Where your loved ones rest in peace

Preparing a place to remember your loved one...

Monumental & Lawn Burials

You may have parted, but their memory lives in your hearts forever. At Woronora Memorial Park, we're dedicated to helping you choose the best way for you to honour and remember your loved ones in a way they and you would wish.

Burials have long been the preferred form of memorial of many cultures and religions. Within Woronora, we cater for a diverse, local community, offering a range of beautiful, culturally appropriate options to suit your needs.

Being among those of a similar background on this final journey can be important. Woronora thoughtfully provides a range of outstandingly crafted sections for cultures and creeds, such as our renowned Stations of the Cross and Gardens of the Pieta Mausoleum. Family and friends can find comfort in knowing their loved ones have been farewelled according to traditions in which they lived.

General Lawn

Create a lasting memorial in a simple, tasteful style. Our sweeping, pleasantly manicured Lawns allow you to choose from a range of peaceful settings.

General Lawn positions are laid out in rows, with most plots able to hold up to two interments, as well as ashes. Restrained and elegant bronze memorial plaques give you space to record the details of your loved one, as well as a few brief words to express your love.

Wollemi Lawn

One of our loveliest spots is Wollemi Lawn, favoured by the Roman Catholic Community. Deep within the park, overlooking natural bushland, our Wollemi Lawn is a serene and charming site for reflection and repose. Australia's ancient Wollemi Pines frame the space. A tasteful stone Angel bench seat offers a place to sit and remember precious times.

Monumental Lawn

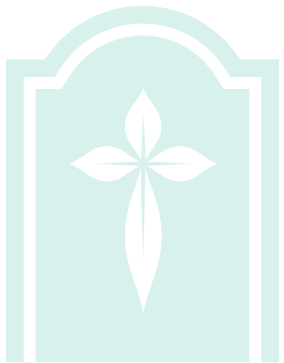

Monumental Lawn positions gives you scope for remembering your loved one with a more substantial headstone. With a host of gracious spots to choose from, our caring staff are on hand to help you choose a fitting location.

Monumental Lawns in most cases allows up to two interments (and if available, up to four ash interments) as well as a number of cremations. Which makes it an excellent choice for couples and families who wish to remain together.

When arranging your monument, please ask your Monumental Mason to get in touch and we'll provide practical information to make sure the monumental work meets the Park's specifications.

Full Monumental

With full-length stones and large headstones, our Full Monumental positions are a magnificent choice for families. You'll find many excellent examples of modern Full Monumental burials within our Park to help you make your decisions.

We have several locations for Full Monumental graves, with selected denominations gathered together. Each allows for up to two interments (as well as up to four cremated remains).

One of our most stunning offerings is within the celebrated Stations of the Cross precinct. Each lovingly crafted Station depicting the journey of Jesus to his crucifixion accommodates two imposing memorials in polished black granite. A wonderful place for deep, spiritual contemplation.

You will need to obtain the services of a private mason to create your special place, excluding our Stations of the Cross precinct. Please talk to our staff about the details you'll need to provide to Monumental Masons.

Cedar Lawn

In recent years, Woronora has explored a range of techniques to provide more environmentally aware burial options. Our Cedar Lawn Monumental burials preserve the memory of your loved one in a more sustainable way – setting the benchmark for the future of this important rite of passage.

Cedar Lawn overlooks the natural bushland, protected by an elegant sandstone wall. It's a quiet, restful place, with unimpeded views across the bush, and a sweep of sky that offers its own special power to still the mind's chatter. Flowering vines have begun their travels across the wall – within a few years it will be a riot of delicious colour – the perfect backdrop for this superb, world-class resting place.

Space to record the details of your loved one, as well as a few brief words to express your love can be displayed on a bronze plaque which is secured to a black granite headstone. Families are also welcome to explore alternative options.
